

Photo Release and Permission Agreement

By entering the White Tank Mountains Conservancy (WTMC) Annual Summer Photo Contest, you grant WTMC a non-exclusive, royalty-free, perpetual license to use, reproduce, publish, display, distribute, and promote your submitted photograph(s) in print, digital, social media, educational, fundraising, and marketing materials.

Photographers retain ownership and copyright of their images. Whenever practical, WTMC will provide photographer credit when using submitted images.

By submitting an entry, you represent and warrant that:

- You are the sole creator and copyright holder of the photograph(s) submitted.
- You have obtained any necessary permissions from identifiable individuals appearing in the photograph(s).
- The photograph(s) do not infringe upon the rights, copyrights, trademarks, privacy, or other intellectual property rights of any person or entity.
- The photograph(s) were taken legally and ethically, without disturbing wildlife, damaging habitat, or violating park regulations, private property rights, or applicable laws.

If a submitted photograph includes recognizable individuals, the entrant affirms that they have obtained permission from those individuals (or from a parent or legal guardian for minors) for the image to be submitted and used by WTMC.

WTMC reserves the right to use submitted photographs for future educational, conservation, promotional, fundraising, and outreach purposes without additional compensation to the photographer. Submission of an entry constitutes acceptance of these terms and all contest rules.

By entering the contest, you acknowledge that you have read, understood, and agreed to this Photo Release and Permission Agreement.
